Documentation of Notification vs. Medical Consult

The 2023 MIEMSS Protocols make a distinction between a hospital notification and a medical consultation. When documenting in eMeds, it is important to note which one you did.

A hospital notification is primarily directed at the nursing staff to pass along pertinent information so they can prepare for your arrival. This is done over the EMRC radio for priority 1 patients and specialty alerts. For most patients we do this over the 7H* channels.

A medical consultation is a bidirectional communication between you and a physician with the purpose of bringing their experience and knowledge into your ongoing treatment of a patient.

Add the corresponding "Procedure" to your eMeds when you perform either one . . .
